

In 1971 Olszyny was different than today. There was a small manor house, a grocery store and small church. Houses and school were small and wooden.

Today the village is big and there are many shops. There is a cinema, a bank, and a health center. The church is the same but the school is big and modern. Olszyny is very different from the small village of the past.

by Karol Nowak